

1- Get knowledge

You don't have to be an expert in the use of technology, but you should be familiar with and familiar with the technologies your children use and their experiences. Educate yourself about the Internet. You should have information about the positive and negative aspects of technology use and raise awareness in your children about these issues.

Research and read about the technologies your children use and what you can do to use the Internet safely.

2- Be interested in your child's activities

* Your child's online information about its activities own it.

• Online activities Check out what it does and about why She/He did it talk to them. your child online information about its activities have surveillance that these activities talk to him/her about some problems quickly to identify and It allows you to solve.

• Your child visits sites and games become familiar.

"TO JOIN YOUR CHILD'S DIGITAL WORLD."

3- Take security measures

• Internet filters and family control if necessary download apps. Why are you using them? explain.

• Password/passcode to your phone sheep.

• Internet when, where and how to userules together sheep. will spend online time with your child determine and about don't yawn.

• Your child's online and when out and a healthy activity create balance.

• Offline social and sports about the importance of activities inform your child. Online and offline time to spend plan with your child do it together. online and what to do offline a family plancreate.

• Your child uses password(s) with you get it to share. Why is this necessary explain it to him/her.